The Network Model

Thriving. Thriving. Thriving.

The Network Model
Who is in the network

The network is a group of leading African organisations who share a common vision of a ‘world in which no child with a disability is left behind.’

The network is for organizations who were founded in and based in Africa, and who work specifically on improving the lives of children with disabilities.

What the network does

We protect, educate and amplify the voices of children and young people with disabilities, so they are able to thrive.

We do this by:

- Delivering high-quality programs, generating evidence of what works and building best practice in inclusive programming for children with disabilities.
- Standing up for the rights of children with disabilities, amplifying their voices and creating change by influencing governments and other international allies.

The role for data

Evidence underpins all of our work. We work together to collate data on the barriers children with disabilities experience and generate evidence for what works in inclusive programming. We then use this information to deepen our impact for children with disabilities and to influence governments and other international allies.

How we work

We believe we are stronger together.

Members will gain access to a wealth of knowledge, both technical and operational, from like-minded organizations that will build expertise and resilience across the network.

The network members will then be equipped to play a leading role supporting movements and other organizations of persons with disabilities in their respective countries, working to improve services, hold their governments to account and deliver lasting change for children with disabilities.

Network members will

- Share expertise, learning and evidence on best practice.
- Participate in joint-funded projects and consortium-based delivery.
- Contribute to coordinated systems of data collection to identify gaps and prove models of success.
- Develop joint campaigns and advocacy messaging to uphold the rights of children with disabilities globally.

Who we influence

As a network our voice is louder.

This creates an opportunity to get the attention of powerful global allies and influence change. We plan to use our joint voice to influence, petition and inspire the following groups:

- Broader civil society: We will persuade and inform local civil society to strengthen the inclusion of children with disabilities in the programs that they deliver.

- Local government: We will co-design disability-inclusive policies with local government and hold them to account on financing for children with disabilities.

- Donors: We will demand disability-inclusive and targeted funding specifically for organizations working for children with disabilities.

- International allies: We will ensure children with disabilities are not left behind by international INGOs, UN agencies or other global influencers.
Currently working in Uganda, Kenya, Tanzania, Rwanda, Malawi, Zambia and Zimbabwe, we foresee working across more countries in East and Southern Africa as well as West Africa by 2030, as demonstrated by the map.

We want to work across Africa. In order to be a fully representative African network, we need to broaden our reach. By 2030 we are looking to have active members in at least three regions on the continent, growing our presence in Southern Africa, alongside an expansion to West Africa.

This growth will be led by the network themselves, who will choose how and where we grow. Our priority will always be focused on working with African organizations who work for children with disabilities and see value in joining the network.

The network journey

Where the network will operate
Governance

Our governance structure will transition power over to network members.

The aim is for an autonomous body made up of representatives from network members that will convene regularly to determine network priorities, strategy, and spending. It will feed into our current Board structures, ensuring they are more representative of the network members and ensure that the members have power within this structure to determine organizational direction.

The network itself will play an important role in determining what exactly the governance setup will be. This shift will be phased to ensure we create something that works in practice, rather than looks good on paper. We are also mindful of not overburdening the members or jeopardizing the stability of the network during this transition.

Steps to 2030

The development and realization of the network will be a journey. One that is not prescribed but will be led by the network themselves. We see four primary steps in this process from the formation through to 2030.

- Formation: Creation of the network and its key decision-making structures.
- Incubation: Delivery of the first activities with support from Able Child Africa.
- Expansion: Expansion of the network into new regions across Africa.
- Realization: International recognition of an autonomous network.
